

“Duxbury Free Library to Hold Program on the History of the Current War in Ukraine “

Join the Duxbury Free Library for a presentation titled "'Little Russia' and the Russian Empire: History and the War in Ukraine" with historian Dr. Cynthia Simmons on Thursday, March 31st at 6:30pm. Dr. Cynthia Simmons is an emeritus professor at Boston College, where she taught in the Department of Slavic and Eastern Languages and Literatures from 1994-2017. Dr. Simmons will be providing historical context for the current war in Ukraine, along with discussing language, religion, and other aspects of culture related to Ukrainian and Russian identities. This program will take place on Zoom, but will also be streamed in the Lanman Room at the Duxbury Free Library. To find out more about this program and to register, please visit our website at duxburyfreelibrary.org

*Denise M. Garvin
Library Director
Duxbury Free Library
77 Alden St.
Duxbury, MA 02332*